SCHOOL TEACHERS STILL AT OUTS

With Board of Education Over Objectionable Clauses In Contract.

G. A. R. MEMORIAL SERVICES

At Congregational Church Tomorrow -Convention of Physicians-More Bids for State Capitol.

OGDEN, May 29.-Next Tuesday evening is the time to which the board of education has extended to allow the teachers of the Ogden public schools to sign their contracts for the next school year. The time had been extended until today by the board but the receipt of the second petition last night in which further demands were made by the 92 signers made it necessary to extend the time until next

The petition was the second one received by the board from the teachers relative to the new contracts which the board has adopted for the future. In this petition the teachers object to the clauses which require them to do summer school work and attend the convention of the state teachers. The first petition objected to the clause which required that a small deposit be made from the salary each month as a guaranty against breaking of the contract. Thus far no action has been taken, by the board upon the petitions of the teachers in relation to their Tuesday. teachers in relation to their

The petition as was presented last evening was referred to Superintendent Mills, who will meet with the teachers next Tuesday in an effort to effect some sort of a compromise. It was learned that the petition contained many names of teachers who objections The petition as was presented last

MAYOR OF MIDVALE CITY (Special Correspondence.) MIDVALE, Salt Lake Co., May 26, MIDVALE, Salt Lake Co., May 26.— The new city of Midvale, the section of Salt Lake county formerly known as Bingham Junction or East Jordan, today held its first election and decided by a vote of 3 to 1 to incorporate as a city under the name of Midvale. The officers under the name of Midvale. The officers chosen were those nominated on the Citizen's tickets, headed by Hyrum Goff as mayor. Mr. Goff is one of the first residents of the place, and its foremost citizen and business man. The other officers are: Edward A. Bateman, recorder. Dr. J. F. Robertson. man, recorder; Dr. J. E. Robertson, treasurer; Nels Lind, justice, and Pat-rick B. Sullivan, John M. Watson, Geo. A. Jenkins, Holland E. Benedict and Henry P. Miller, members of the city council. The Independent ticket was defeated by a decisive vote. When the result of the election became known the residents of the city joined in public celebration, firing cannon and shooting off fireworks. This is the third attempt to incorporate the new city. The first time the railroads and smelter interests opposed incorporation successfully. The second time the smelter people proposed to incorporate the city, leaving the smelter outside of the corporate limits. This was defeated by the taxpayers. This time the taxpayers and smelter people joined hands for incorporation. The smelter is now inside of the corporate limits of the new city of Midvale.
